ORAL HEALTHCARE INNOVATIONS CONFERENCE 2019 (OHIC 2019)

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Dental problems continue to affect the disadvantaged in society at unacceptable rates, and their disease burden is likely to increase because of trends in social determinants of oral diseases. Despite improvements in oral health access and outcomes over the past decade, many measures fall short of desired results and oral health disparities persist. This highlights the need for innovative solutions that create a system of care that delivers oral health services in creative and equitable ways. As health care spending continues to rise, many innovations in oral health have the potential to help "bend the cost curve".

We need to evolve a system where people are seen as communities and not individual patients thus avoiding the disproportionate impact based on economic status, social backwardness or other structural barriers that impact access to oral health services.

"ORAL HEALTHCARE INNOVATIONS CONFERENCE 2019" provides a platform to showcase innovative, cost-effective and consumer friendly ways to unlock the doors to dental care and oral health equity and challenge the current structure and performance of the oral health system.

Dear All,

The Centre for Dental Education and Research (CDER), All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), New Delhi, in association with Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, GOI is hosting the ORAL HEALTHCARE INNOVATIONS CONFERENCE 2019 (OHIC 2019) on 16th September, 2019.

With this conference, we will identify and showcase practices, procedures and protocols that lead to best-practice implementation and research towards innovative & cost-effective approaches to a next generation in oral health.

Looking forward to your participation and welcoming you in person.
